Biography

Not much is known about Calina's life. It is known that she was an only child, from Hugay Fenneza, an important merchant of the kingdom, who had inherited the company with the same surname from his grandfather. Being one of the companies that traded products from the islands and territories as far away as Melukka, especially spices and some auction items.

At some point in the late 13th century, Hugay would die, and Calina, despite being a woman, would eventually inherit the company because she was the only direct heir.
